Crest

Using their own "Do-It-Yourself" kits, these three core editors combine to set new records in Crest production: James Neumeier, co-basketball editor; Mary Lou Cramer, introduction editor; and Wayne Hotz, co-basketball editor.

Smiles aren't hard to come by when Diane Patthoff and Scarlett Osting, co-editors of the senior section, realize their mission is accomplished.

Staff

Social Editor Carol Heitz makes a last-minute check of her "high-society" student file.

Two bright gleams of achievement are radiated by Janet Johnson and Howard Kill, co-editors of the underclass section.

"How's this for lay-out?" asks Nadine Van Schoyck, activities editor, of Dave Wiechart and Bob Wilcox, football section co-editors.

ACTIVITIES

Senior acolytes betray expressions of mixed emotions as they pose for their final get-together as servers. ROW 1: Paul Wiechart, Philip Bryan, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Carl F. Reineck, pastor; the Rev. Thomas W. Kuhn, principal, Michael McKowen, Eugene Hickey, and William Van Pelt. ROW 2: Roger Lindeman, Robert Wilcox, Timothy Drewyore, Dennis Kill, Joseph Illig, James

Introducing a new idea in the study of current events, Father Kuhn is shown reviewing film strips of world news in the senior girls' Civics-Sociology Class.

James Lang presents his winning "Voice of Democracy" speech while Joan Pohlman, Dee Ann Westrich, and Gary Miller eagerly wait to deliver their entries in the contest.

Three

Freedoms

Jean Miller and Lonna Grewe lead a group of freshman girls in a discussion of joy-in-prayer as outlined in "Hi-Time," a magazine used to correlate religious facts.

Members of the 1962 SHIELD staff are entertained by SJH's internationally famous sportswriter, Bill "Sterns" Brennan. Bill displays the issue that contains the Pulitzer-prize account of the famous "Miami-Erie Hockey Swindle" of late January. Watching in amusement are Diane Wanamaker, Joyce Welch, Jeanne Urbine, and Janet Vorst, (seated); Bonnie Stalkamp, Jane Reddington, Carol Flanagan, Dee Ann Westrich, Joyce Turnwald, Barbara Shenk, typist; Joyce Lindeman, Sue Smith, Mildred Gabel, Genie Ricker, Carolyn Burger, and Valeta Wal-lenhorst.

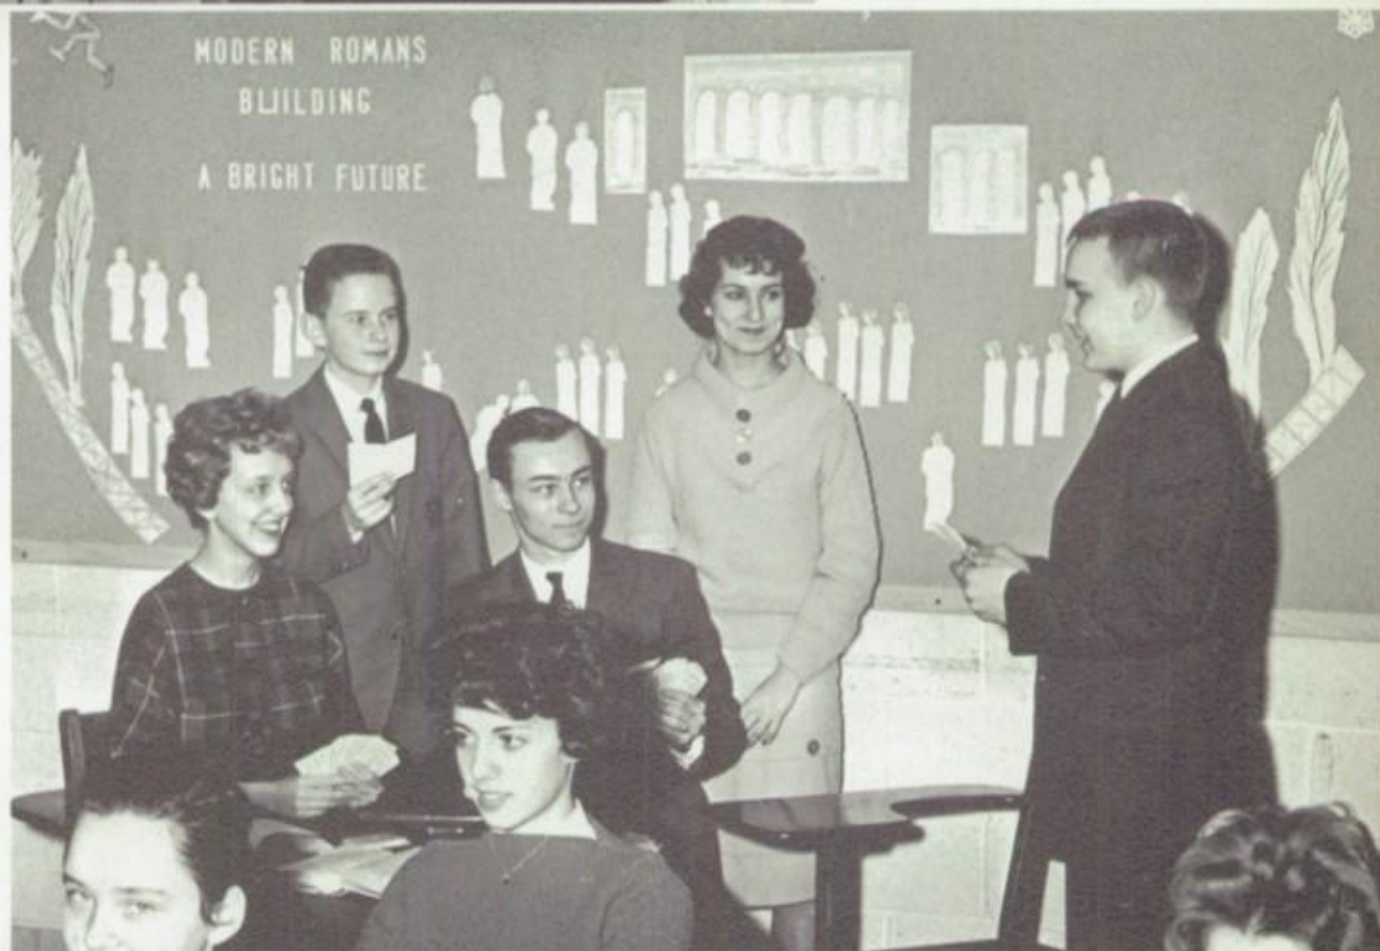

Aquí se habla español.

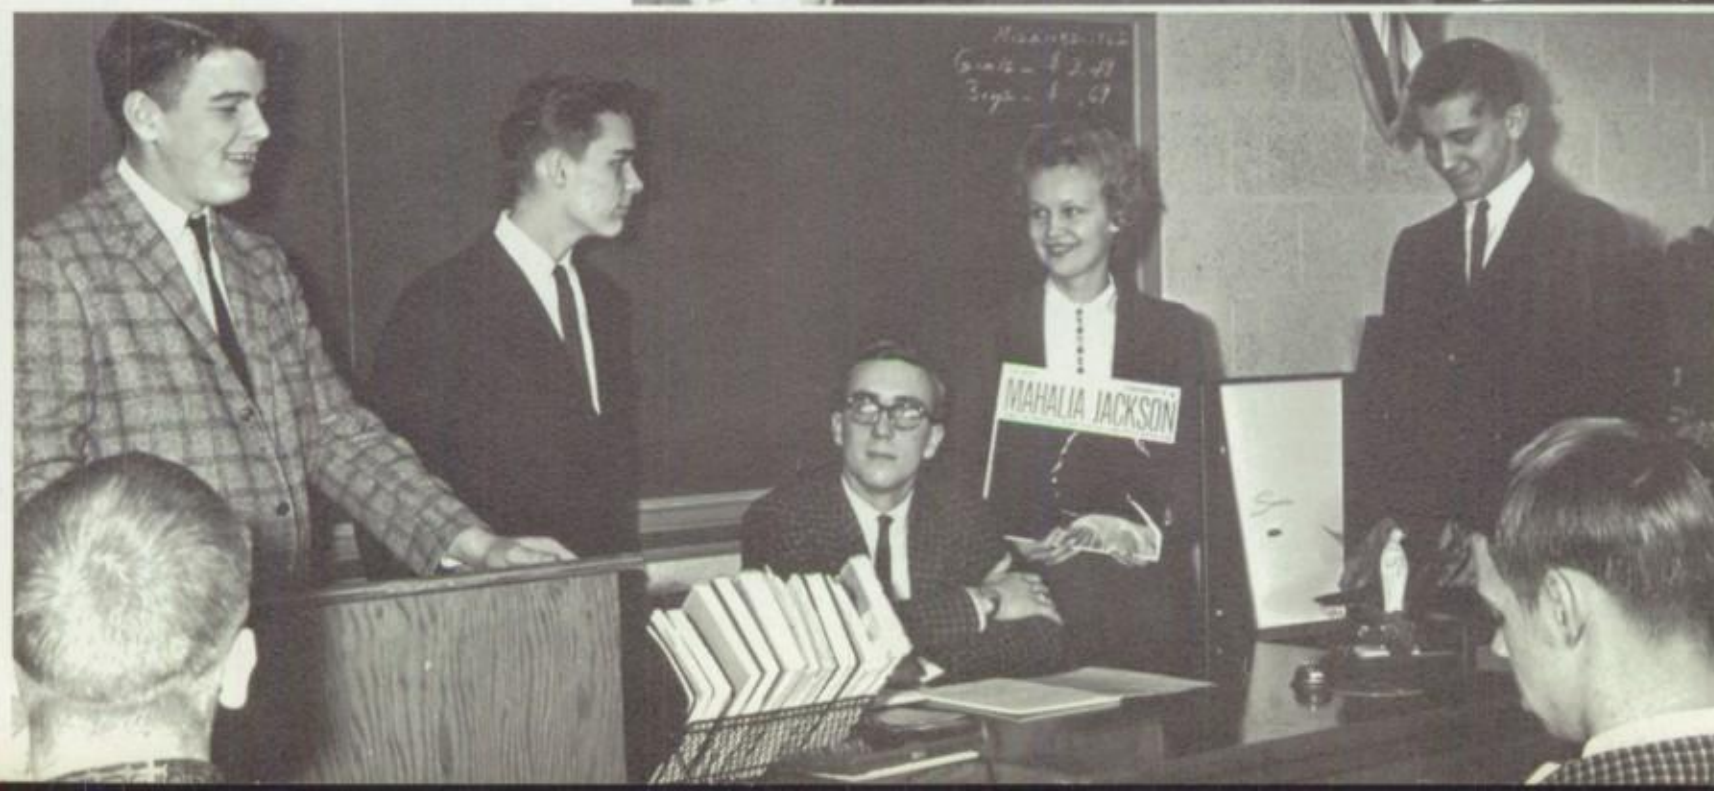

These Spanish students have found that a tape recorder can be a big help in language study. Gene Klaus, Patricia Pohlman, and Kathy Rode lead the class in diction exercises.

Languages

Mary Weisgerber and Bernard Will play a game of "Roman Pinochle" as Robert Williams drills David Weber and Lonna Grewe in the flash card technique during freshman Latin class.

American Literature experts from English III report on Negro Spirituals and Frontier Folk Songs for their classmates' listening pleasure. Bill Brennan (at desk) emcees the panel consisting of Ronald E. Kaverman, Larry Williams, Marcia Hoersten, and Dennis Lause, record Jockey.

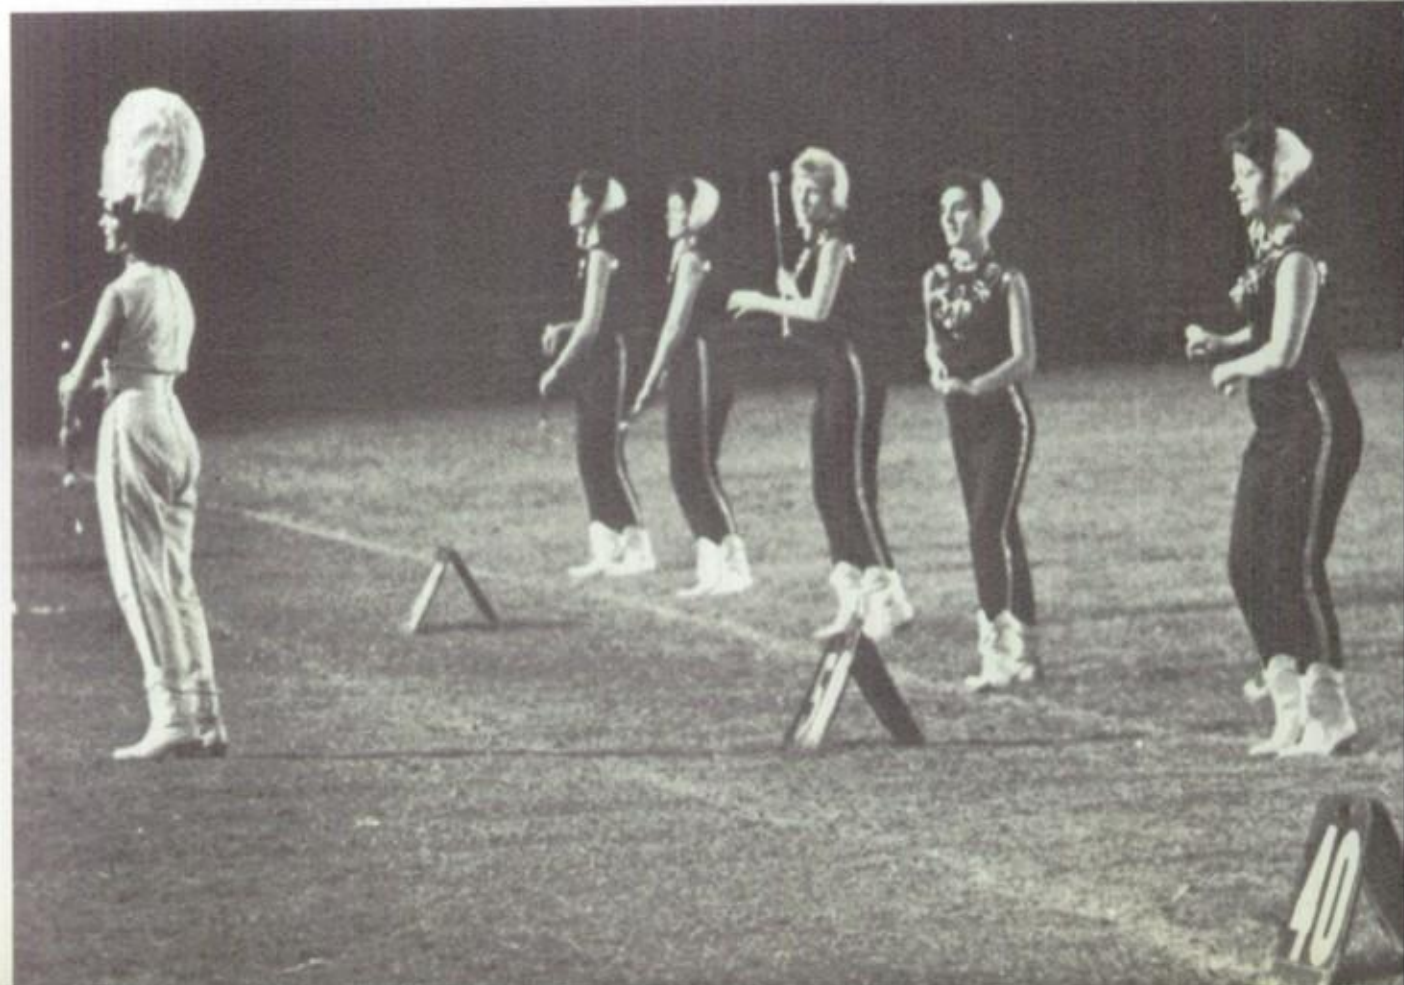

In keeping with the great cultural traditions of SJH, the band presents the classical "Three Little Pigs" during one of their terrific half-time shows.

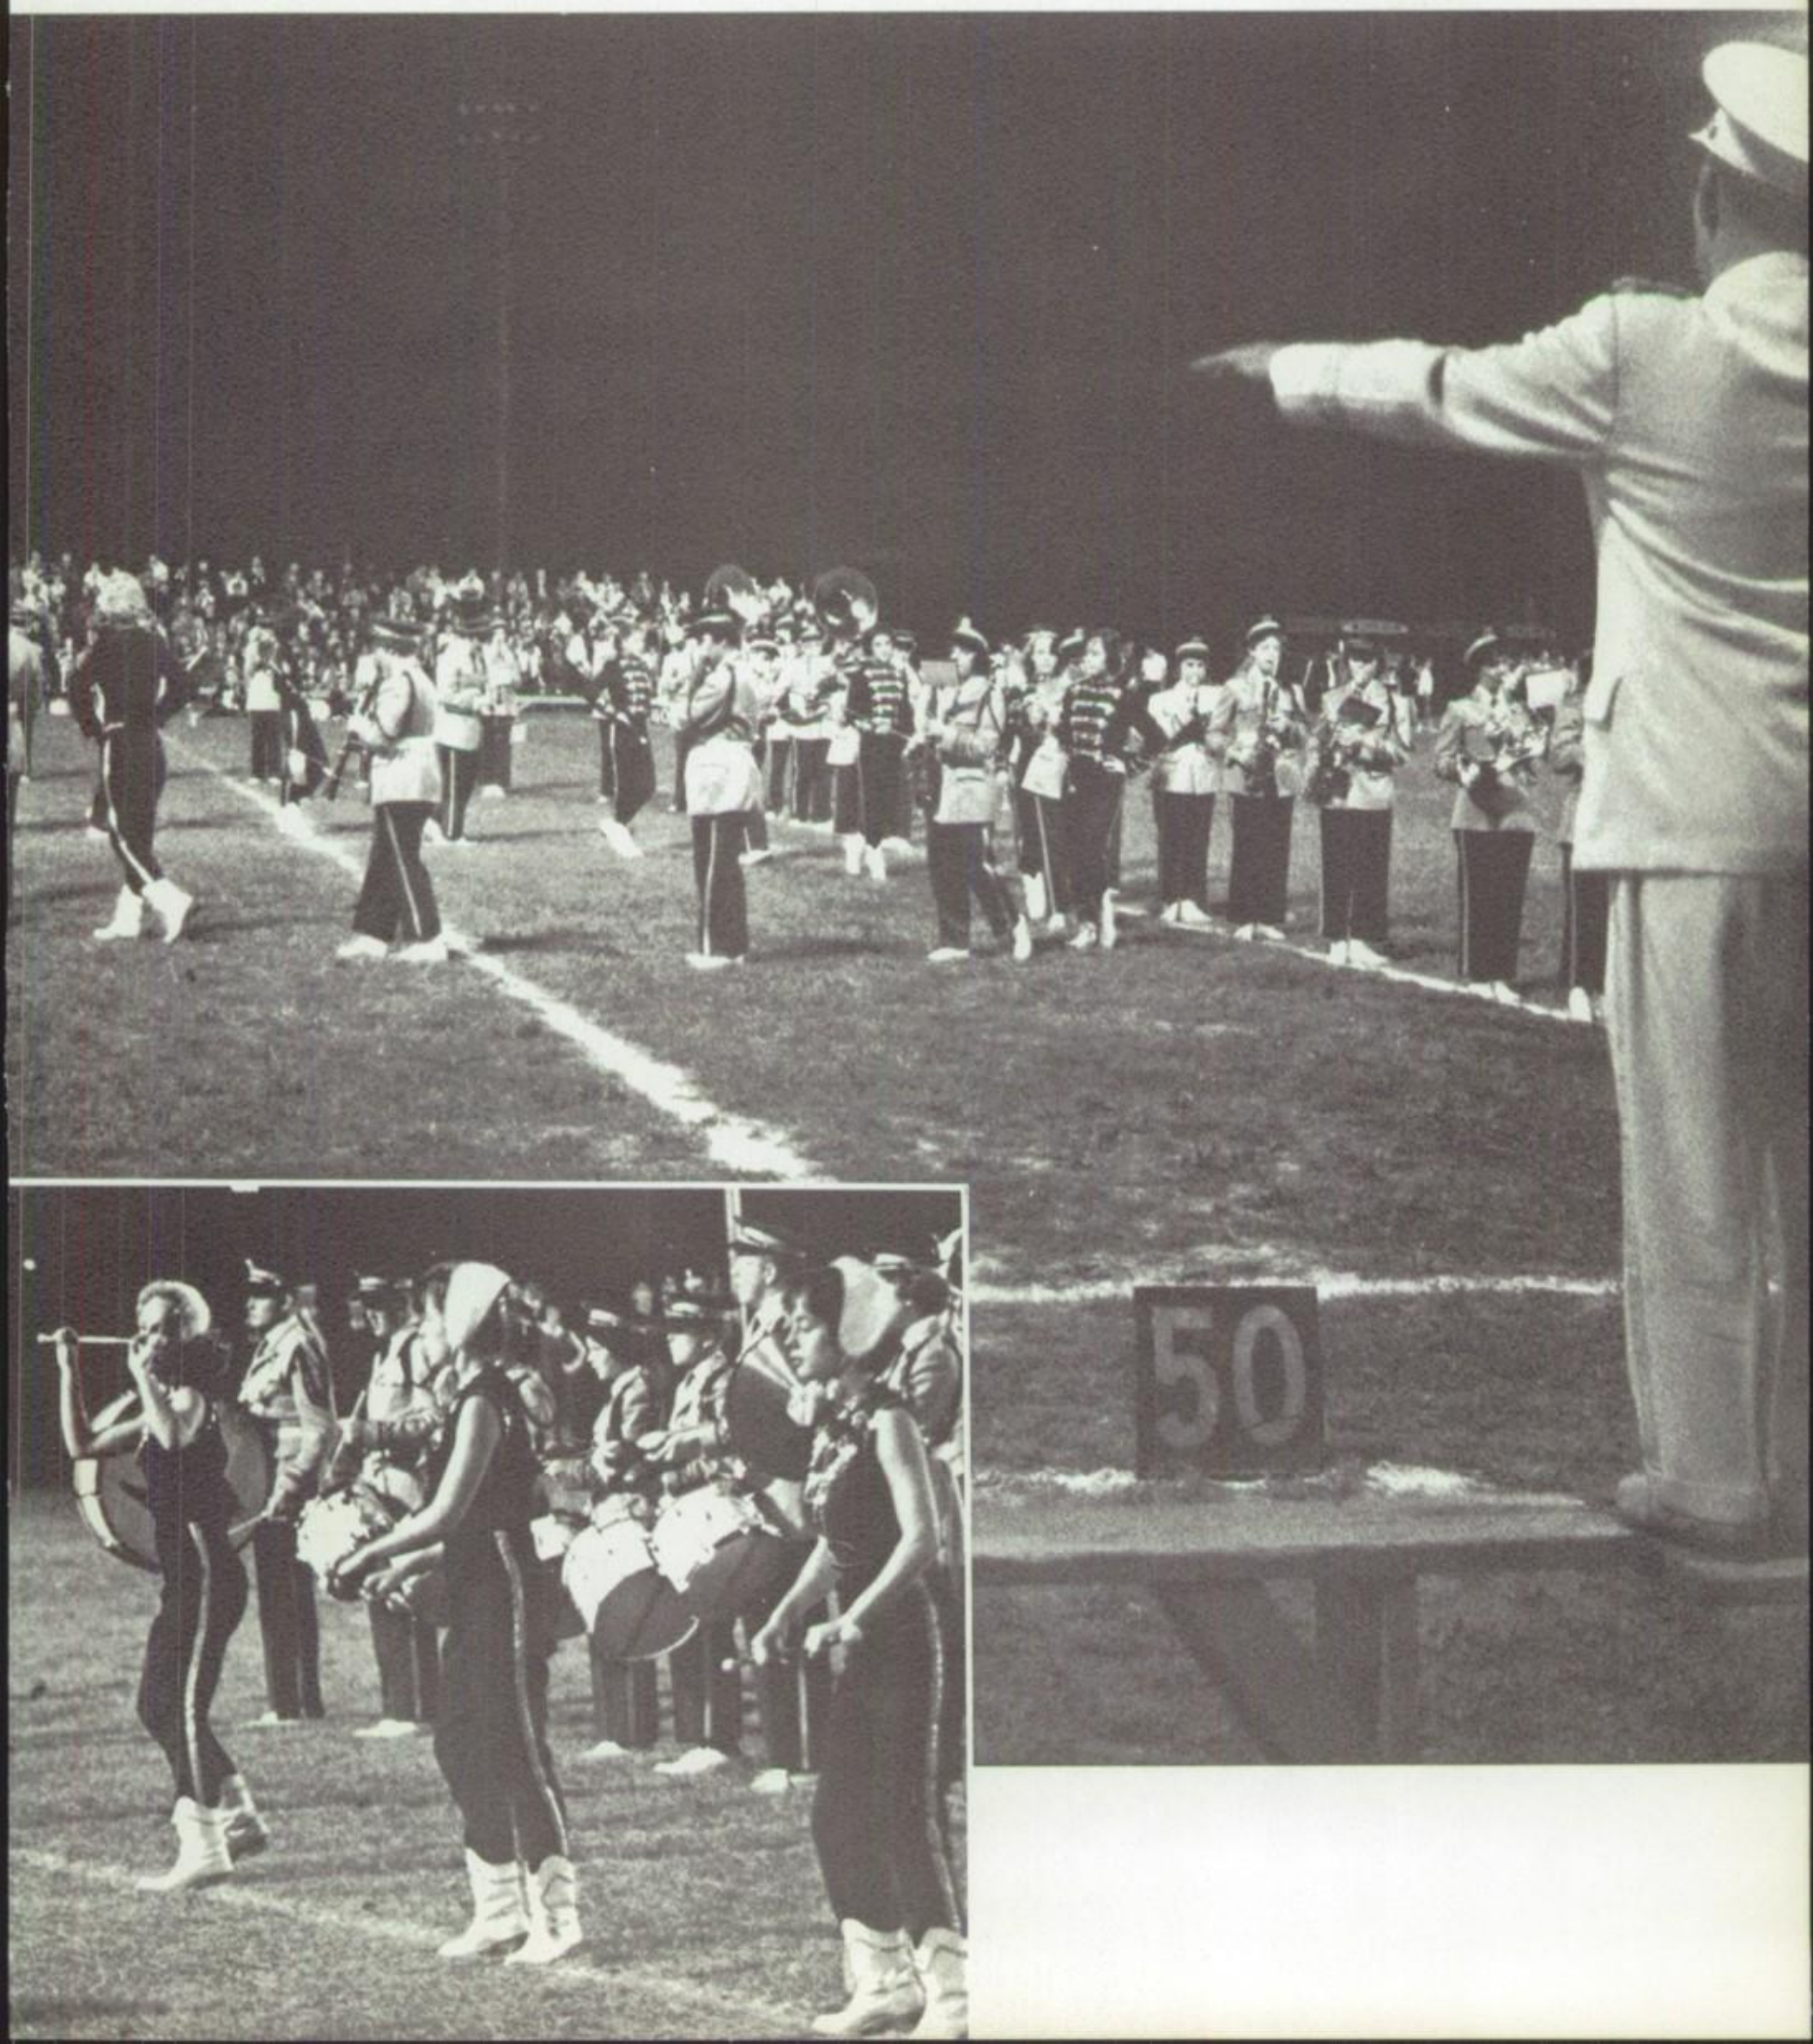

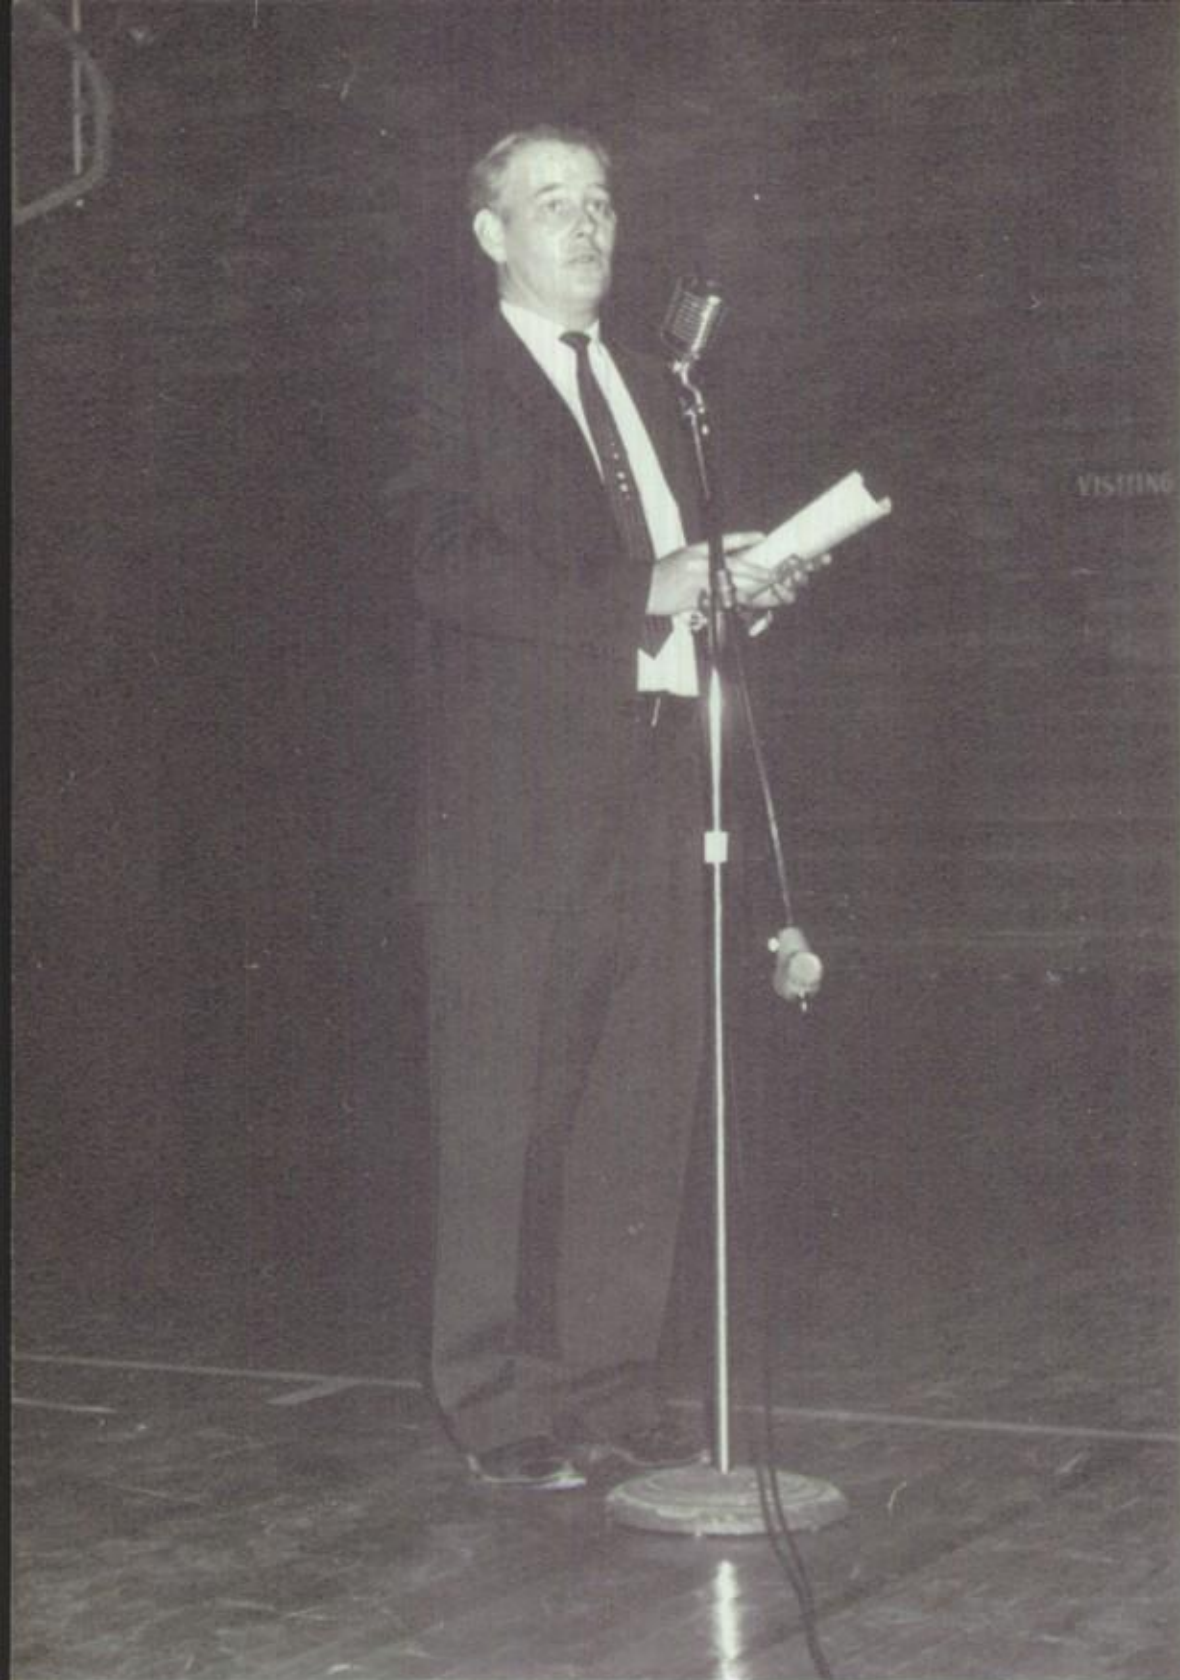

Under the leadership of head majorette, Lois Hageman, the majorettes seem to be really concentrating on their routines, with the exception of Terrie Griffis who, evidently, would rather sleep.

Marching Band

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Bowersox, the dynamic Marching Band is shown during one of the formations sparking half-time entertainment.

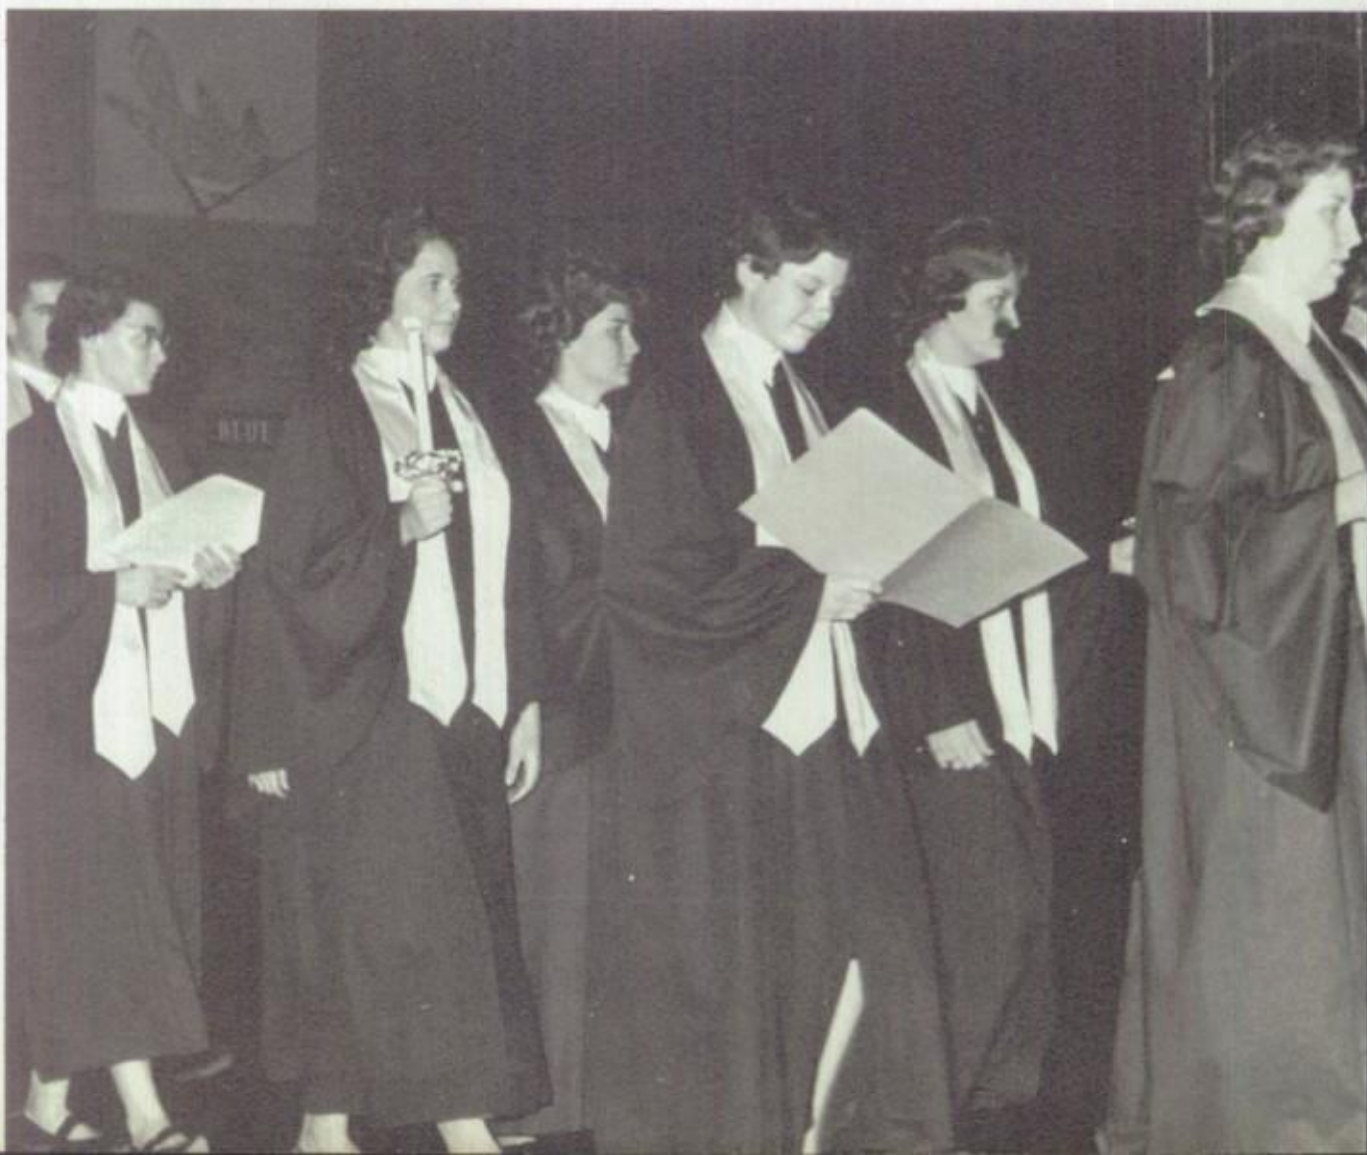

Mr. Donald Bowersox, Chorus Director, addresses the student body before the concert, giving the background and origin of the music in the "Christmas Cantata."

Christmas Cantata

Members of the Concert Choir pause as they take their positions on the stage. (What's with the mustache, Jeannie?)

Glorious strains of Christmas melodies fill the halls of old St. John's as Mr. Bowersox directs the Concert Choir during their Christmas program.

Playing "Liberace style" complete with candelabra, Susan Smith accompanies the Concert Choir at the "Christmas Cantata."

Concert Band

Director of Marching Band

Concert Choir Maestro

Director of Concert Band

Minstrel Show Organizer

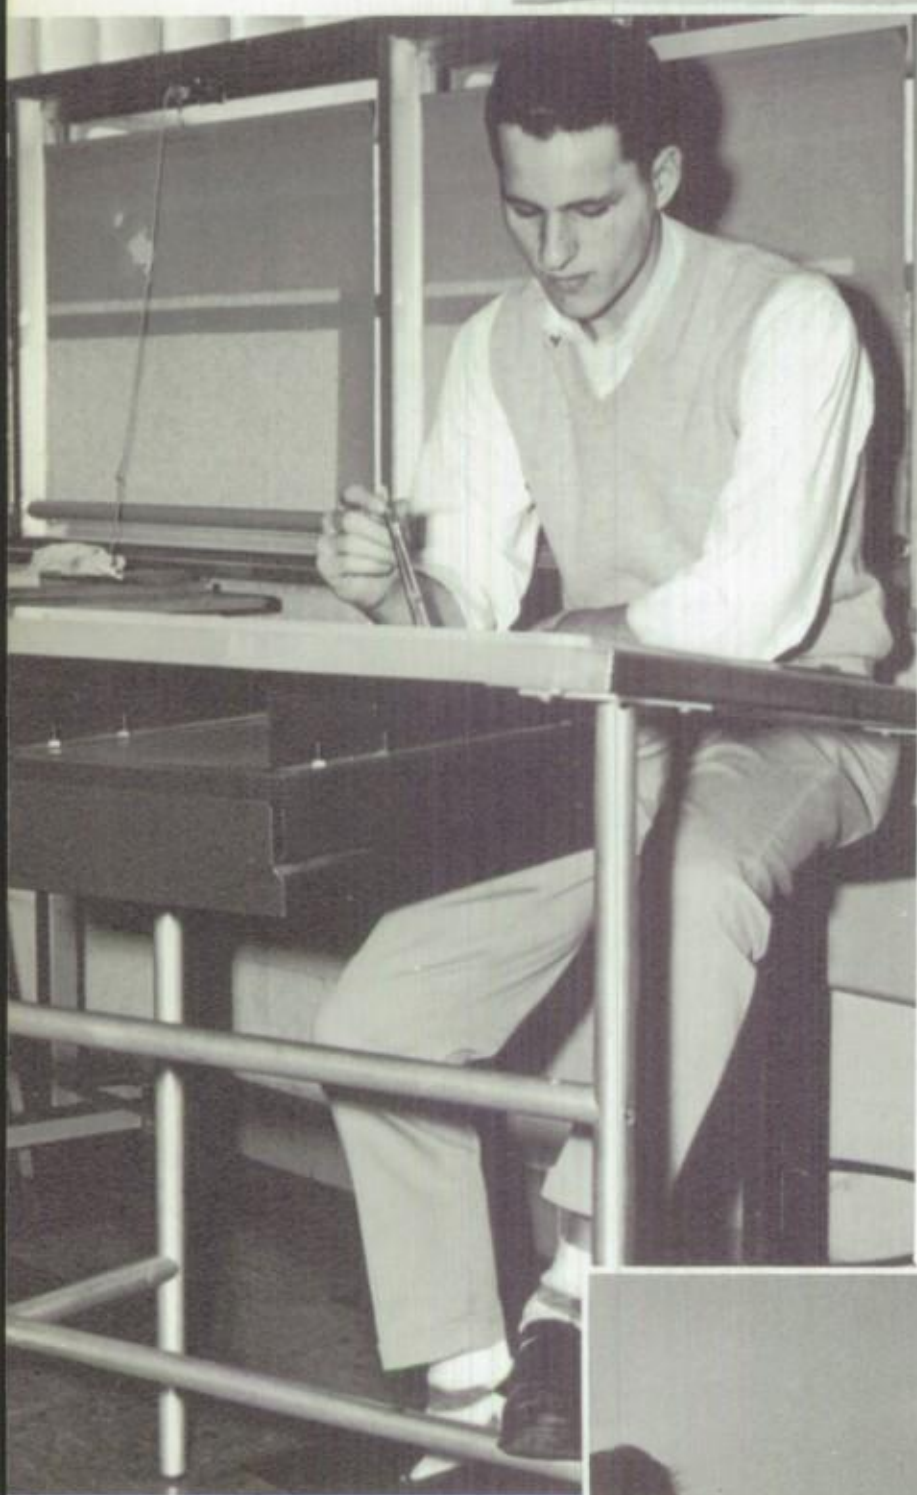

Relieved after nights and nights of practice, the Concert Band radiates satisfaction at having been very well received at their annual performance. Members include: ROW ONE: Pamela Clark, Jane Reddington, Dennis Kill, Thomas Mueller, Thomas Klausing, and James Menke; ROW TWO: Helen Fischer, Susan Osting, Betty Burger, Robert Wegesin, Annette Van Oss, Penny Sever, Pamela Patton, Mary Klausing, Norma Osting, Kathleen Schmersal, Philip Bryan, Sonnie Osting, Candace Patton, and Sue Best; ROW THREE:

Demonstrating the necessary steady hand needed for mechanical drawing, Wayne Hotz, senior, strikes a rare concentrative pose.

Diana Cooley, James Siefker, Nancy Nagle, Gary Grubenhoff, and Richard Lauser, ancient history students, chart the Time Line of history through its development. The Time Line here displayed depicts the progressive phases of the Roman Empire.

Business Whirl

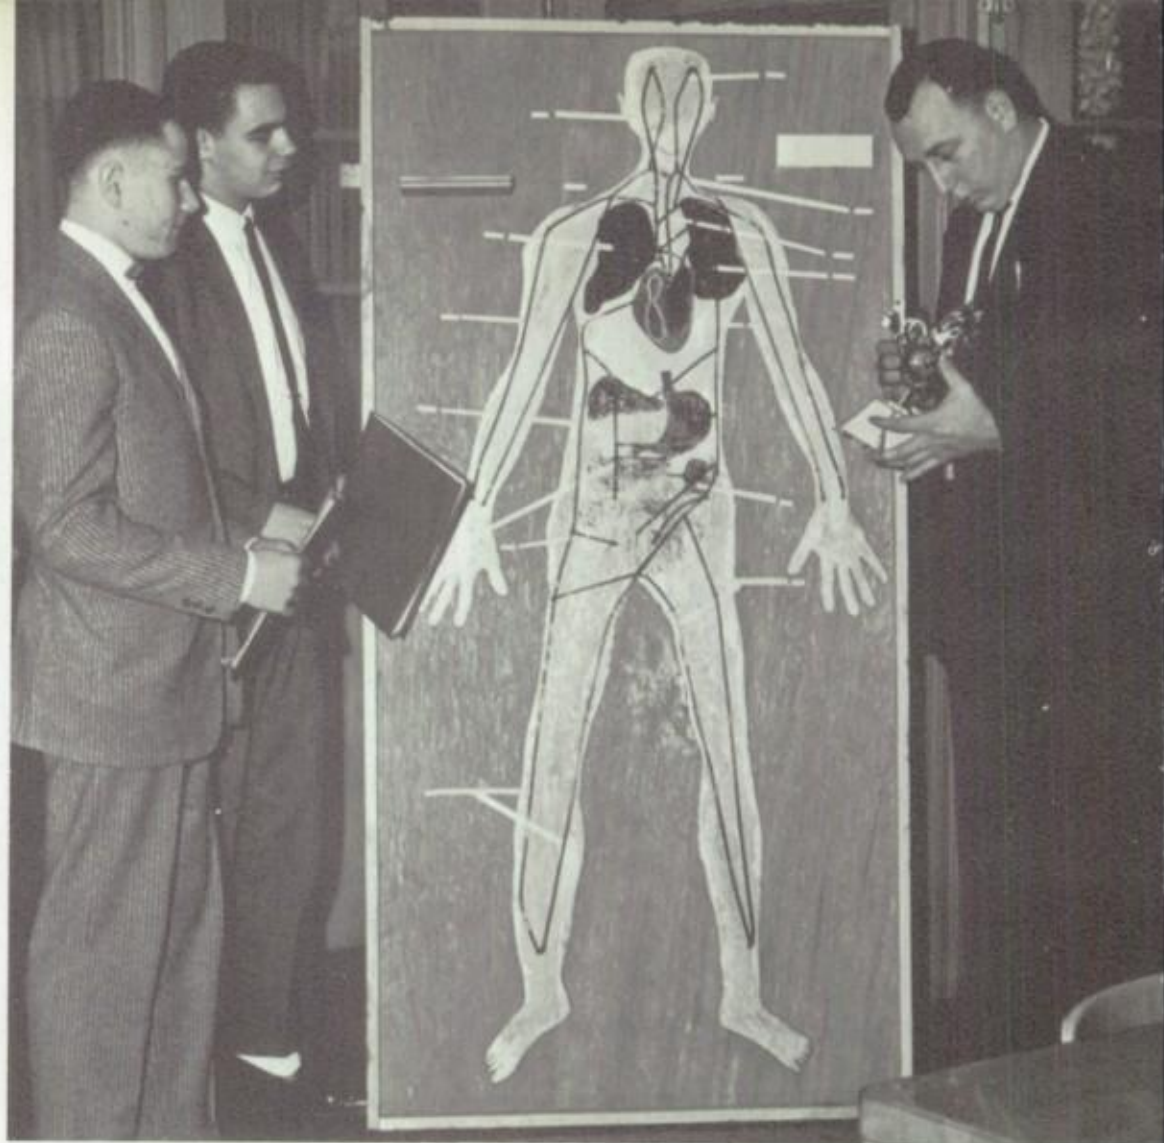

These efficient secretaries of the future demonstrate the techniques of using the dictaphone, adding machines, and electric typewriters during a business practice session.

Practical physics students; Roger Pothast, Gerald Brickner, and John Osting demonstrate to the class a method of finding resistance experimentally by Ohm's Law.

Science

Robert Wegesin and Alan Lause pose with Mr. Robert Kurucz, head of the Biology Department, beside their model of the circulatory system which served as their first semester biology project.

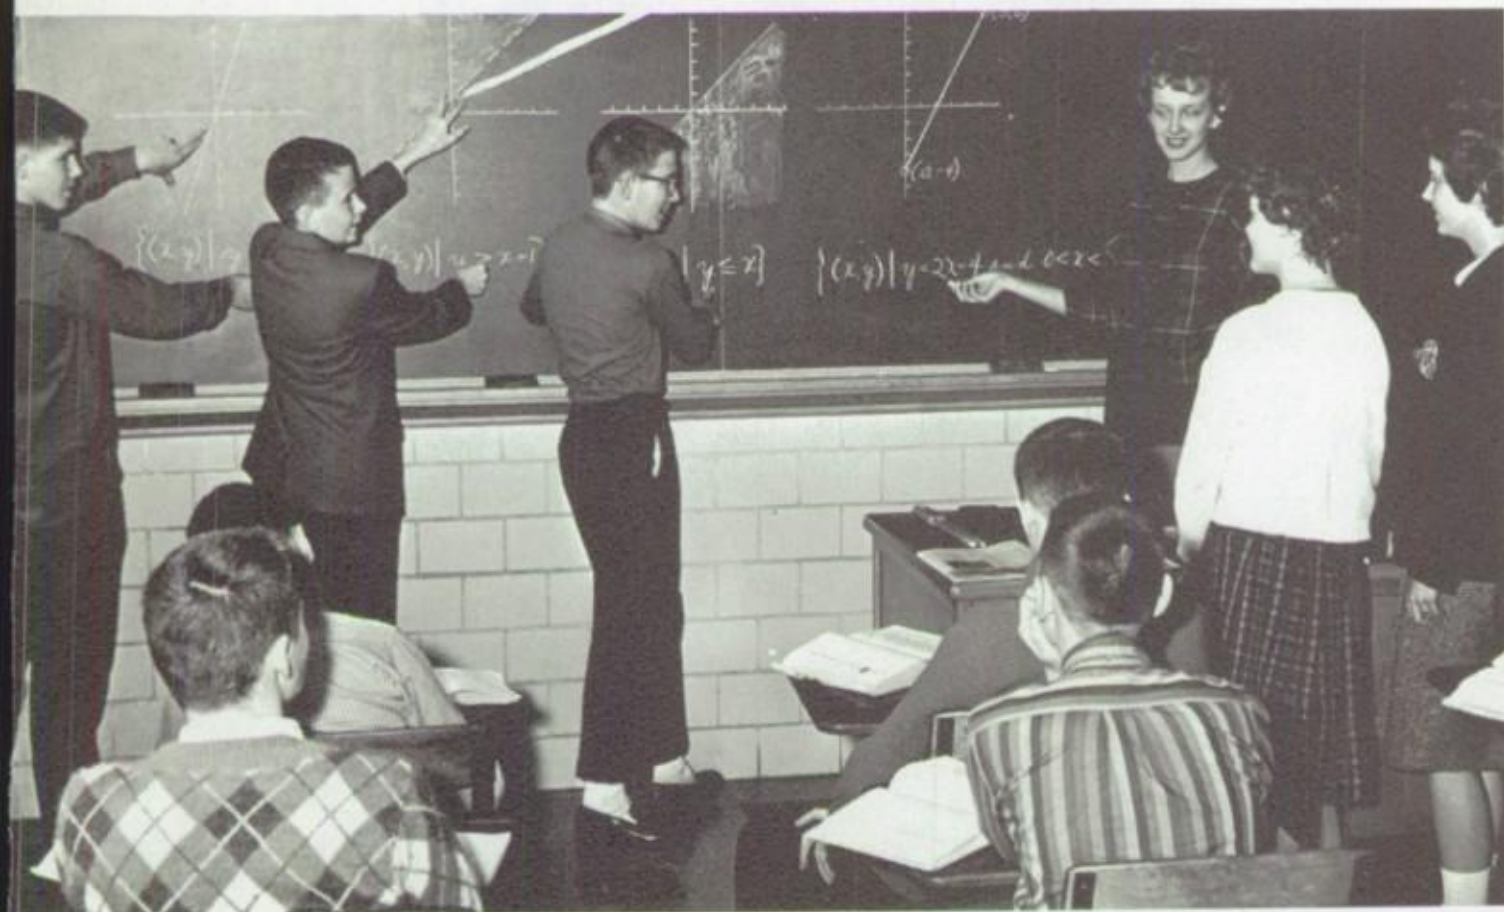

Focus on Einsteins . . . Robert Hiett verifies a physics law of weights and balances, while Frank Schimaeller and Richard Hanser take down the results. Onlooker Carol Hietz looks as if she might be drinking a soda.

Amid rows of test tubes, acid bottles, and Bunsen burners, Janet Vorst and Joseph Imber stand, fascinated by the variety of equipment needed in a chemistry class.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Lloyd Smith, William Shumaker, John Etzkorn, Tom Freund, Michael Schimmoller, Don Osting, James Gerdeman, Roger Horstman, and Roger Pothast, slave over income tax forms. ("Don't forget the money you made at Black Jack, boys.")

Graphing seems to come easy to these freshman Algebra students: Michael Kester, Dave Weber, Steve Rapier, Mary Weisgerber, Barbara Saum, and Ruth Reinemeyer as they smilingly exhibit another victory in the field of math.

Vo-Ag boys trouble shooting the "screwed up" motor wonder "Who did it?": Kenneth Renner, John Hoffman, William Stant, Mr. Robert McBride, instructor, Gary Louth, Roger Lindeman, Tom Pohlman, Dennis Kehres, David Leffers, Ralph Hesseling, Robert Kramer, and Kenneth Wrasman.

Leslie Morton, latest edition to the junior class, has rocked SJH with her magnetic personality and lovable charm. A transfer student from Redondo Beach, California, Leslie finds school life at SJH most enjoyable.

Hardly time enough to stop and pose . . . Patricia Trentman and Helen Grot-hause concentrate intently on laying out a pattern while Virginia Studenka and Marie Meyers put the finishing touches to a Home Arts project.

These homemakers of tomorrow discover that cooking isn't such drudg-ery after all. Edith Pohlman reads the instructions while Irene Pohlman and Carol Pothast carefully follow her directions.

SOCIAL

"Beauty and the Beasts?" Well, not exactly! Queen Nadine's charm is enhanced at the Homecoming Dance by the contrast of the handsome senior boys surrounding her: Jim Fischer, Mike McKowen, Paul Wiechart, Jim Neumeier, and Howard Kill.

Queen Nadine Van Schoyck escorted by Michael McKowen, president of the Student Council, reigns for a glorious evening over the Homecoming Festivities held in the SJH Gym, October 14. Attendants and their escorts: Dorothy Sever and Dennis Ditto;

Judy Trentman, Dale Jostpille, Joyce Turnwald, Gene Klaus; Linda Rode, Howard Kill; James Neumeier; Diane Patthoff, James Fischer; Helen Hemfling, Roger Schlereth; Joan Pohlman, Paul Wiechart; Ann Wulforst and Robert Wegesin.

As one queen to another, Nadine pauses with Mike to pay tribute to the loveliest Queen of them all — the Queen of Heaven.

It's a happy moment for both mother and daughter as Nadine's joy spills over onto her mother, Mrs. Mary Van Schoyck.

Despite the chilly evening, Nadine flashes a warm smile as she rides in high style to the stadium.

Co-captains Jim Neumeier and Tim Drewyore place the cherished crown upon a tearful, but radiant Queen.

"Say it with flowers," says Mike as he places the mums in Nadine's arms.

The royal court in all its glory and beauty presides over the Homecoming Game.

Record table at the Hallowe'en Party forms the center of activity. Dennis Hageman searches for a good record for Announcer Bob Williams, while Steve Rapien spins the discs.

Winners of the costume competition are Norma Osting and Jo Shumaker as Wee Willie Winkies. Judy Wiechart sports her cartoon-decked costume.

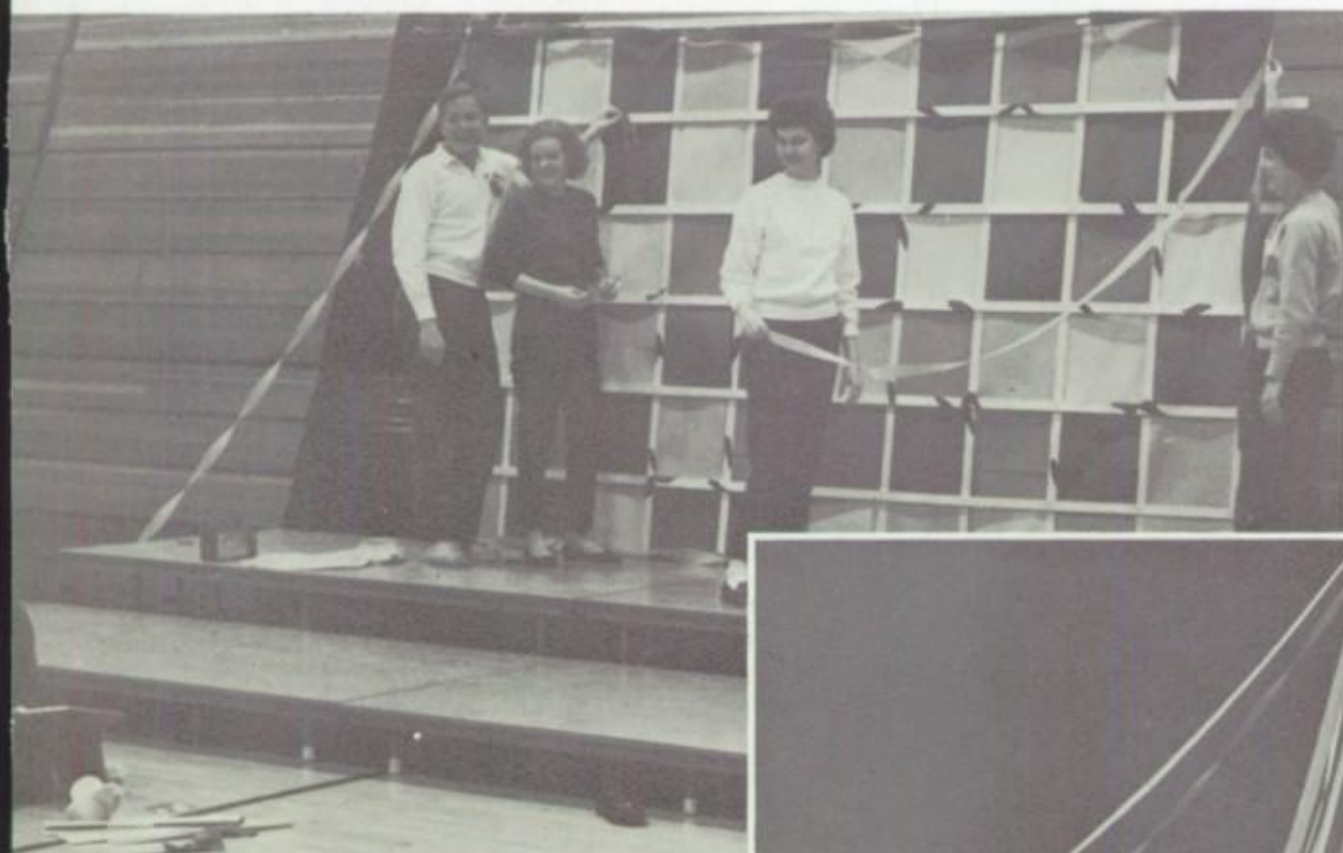

Not the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, but a mass meeting of the guests at the dance.

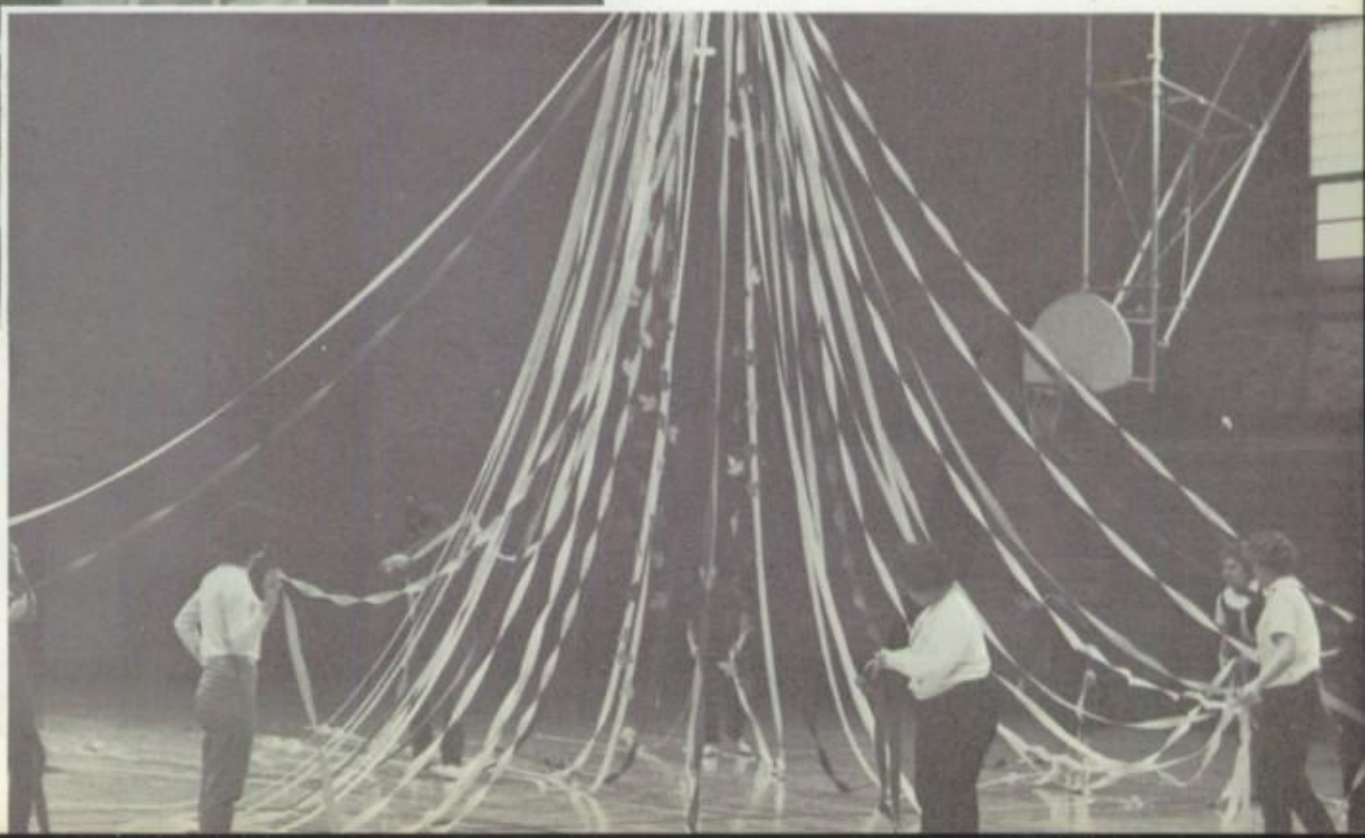

Casper's Moon Masquerade: Casper (invisible, of course,) enjoys a spooky spree at the Freshman Hallowe'en Dance, October 26. While Ozzie, the owl, gazes solemnly, the dance committee cavorts playfully in the graveyard: Greg Miller, Dave Weber, Lonna Grewe, Kay Neumeier, Mary Pothast, and Janice Moenter.

Dennis Kill, Scarlett Osting, Bonnie Nesbitt, and Sue Best interrupt their work for a pose in getting the bandstand ready for "Harvest Moon," Thanksgiving Dance, sponsored by the seniors.

Nope, not the traditional May Day pole — but a group of seniors caught in the swirl of the gym's centerpiece attraction. Three guesses! Who are they?

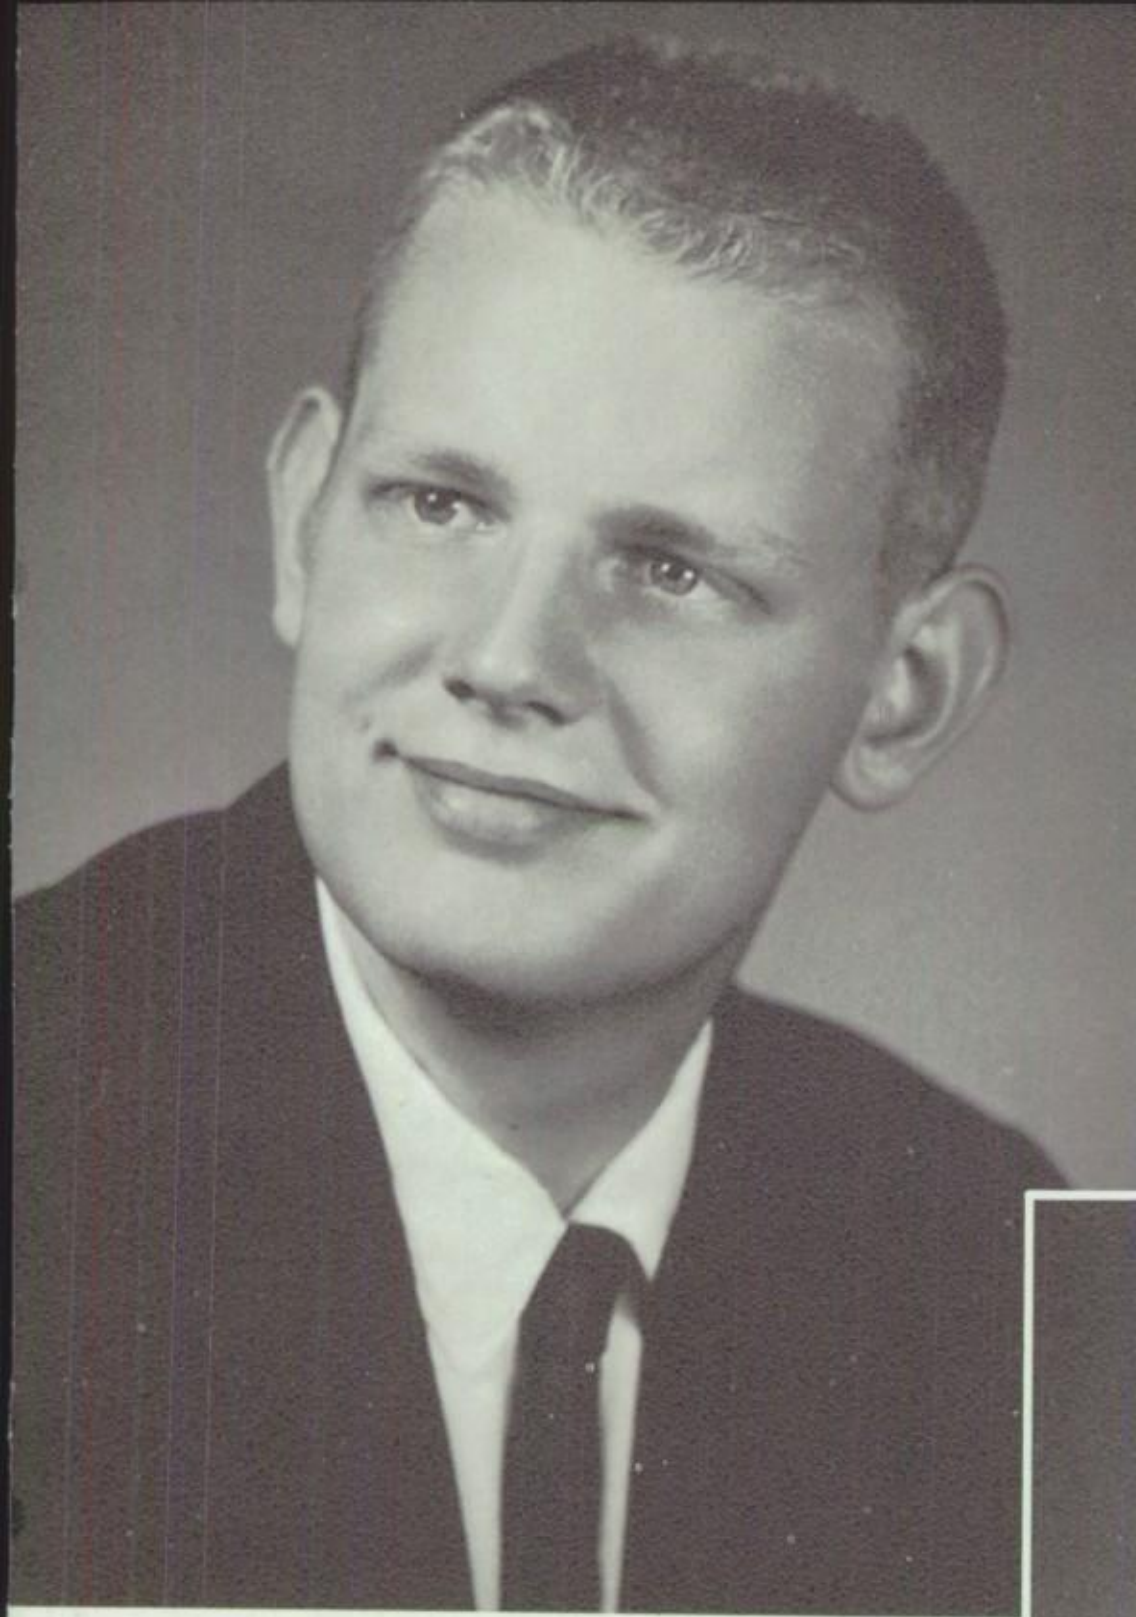

Bob Hiett and Carol Heitz are two reasons for the huge success of "Harvest Moon," senior-sponsored Thanksgiving Dance, held November 24.

Lined up before the magic doorway that led to an evening of fun are committee members: Jo Shumaker, Joe Bricker, Penny Sever, Doris Saum, James McCabe, Mary Meyers, Dennis Kill, and Karen Rahrig.

Lois Hageman and Michael McKowen, co-chairmen of the 1961 Spring Formal — Blue Hawaii — pause for a picture near a scenic spot at the dance.

Marjorie Schwinnen escorted by Howard Kill adds a note of grace near the bandstand at the "Blue Hawaii" Dance last spring. Marjorie was chairman for this division of the Dance.

Co-chairmen Diane Patthoff and Tom Mueller agree that "Blue Hawaii" will go down in the seniors' memory books as "One Enchanted Evening."

Chairmen of the altar committee pose with the evidence of their good planning: Phil Bryan, Karen Rahrig, Pat Pohlman, and Paul Wiechart.

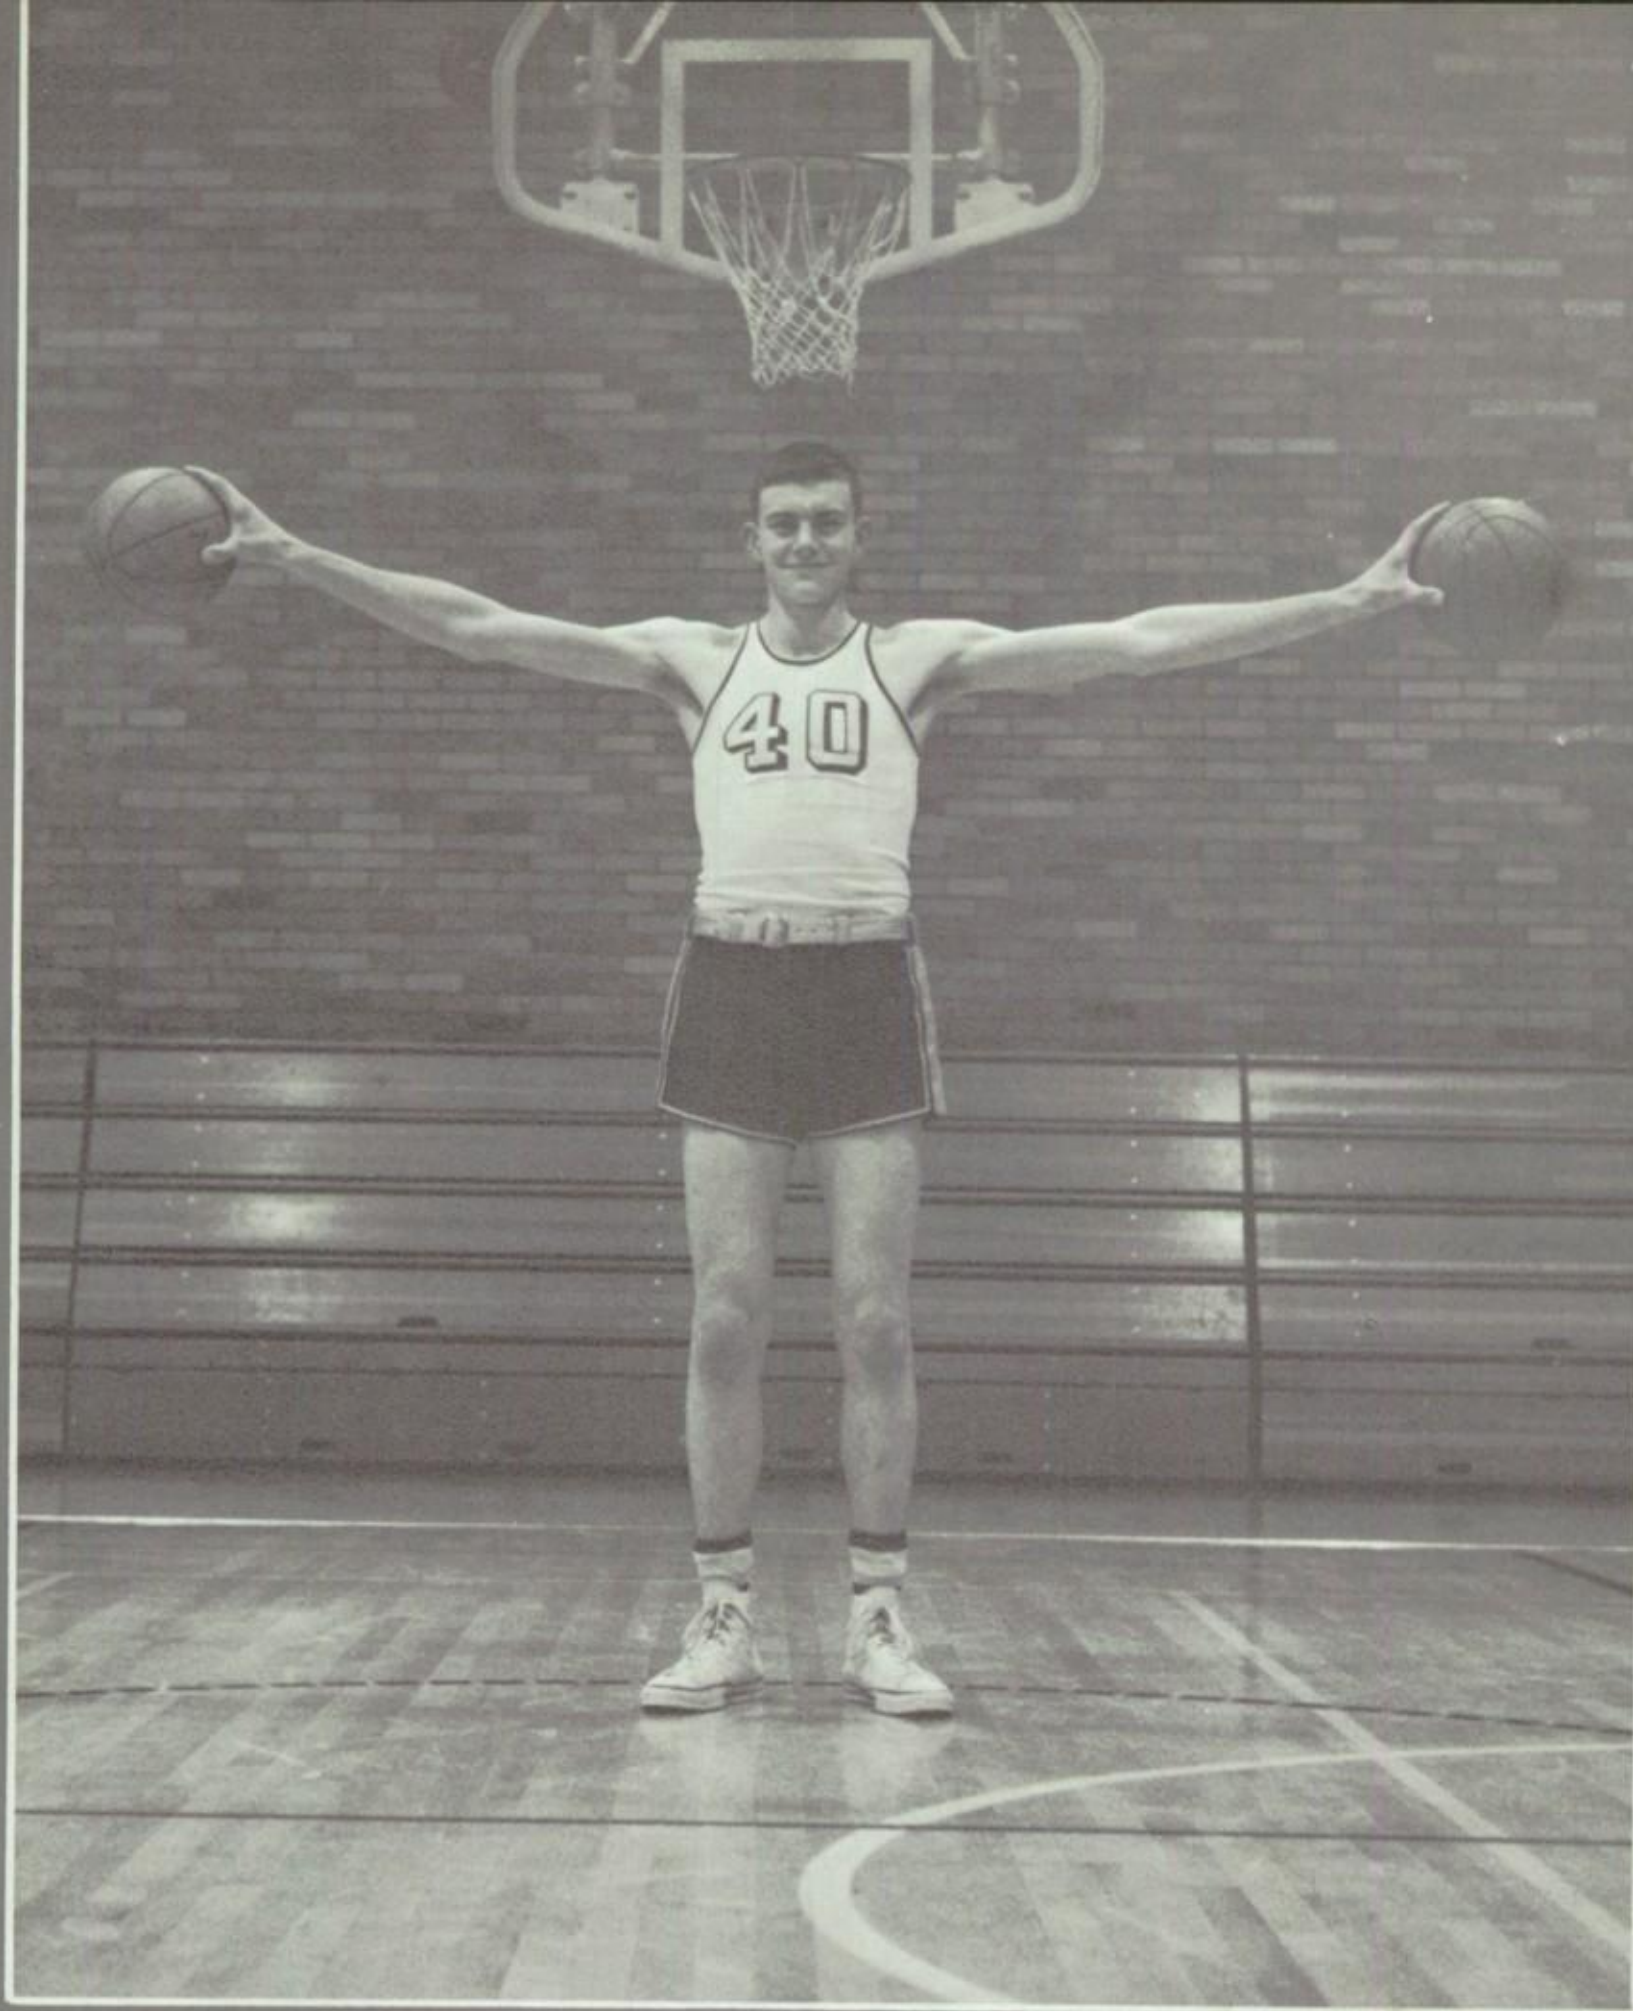

Moms and Dads who have added a wholesome chaperon "touch" to the many social affairs at St. John: Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sever, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McKowen, "old-faithfuls" in party-sitting.

The "Nite Owls" have returned for many a repeat performance at SJH's dances.

"I could have danced all night . . ."

In Memoriam

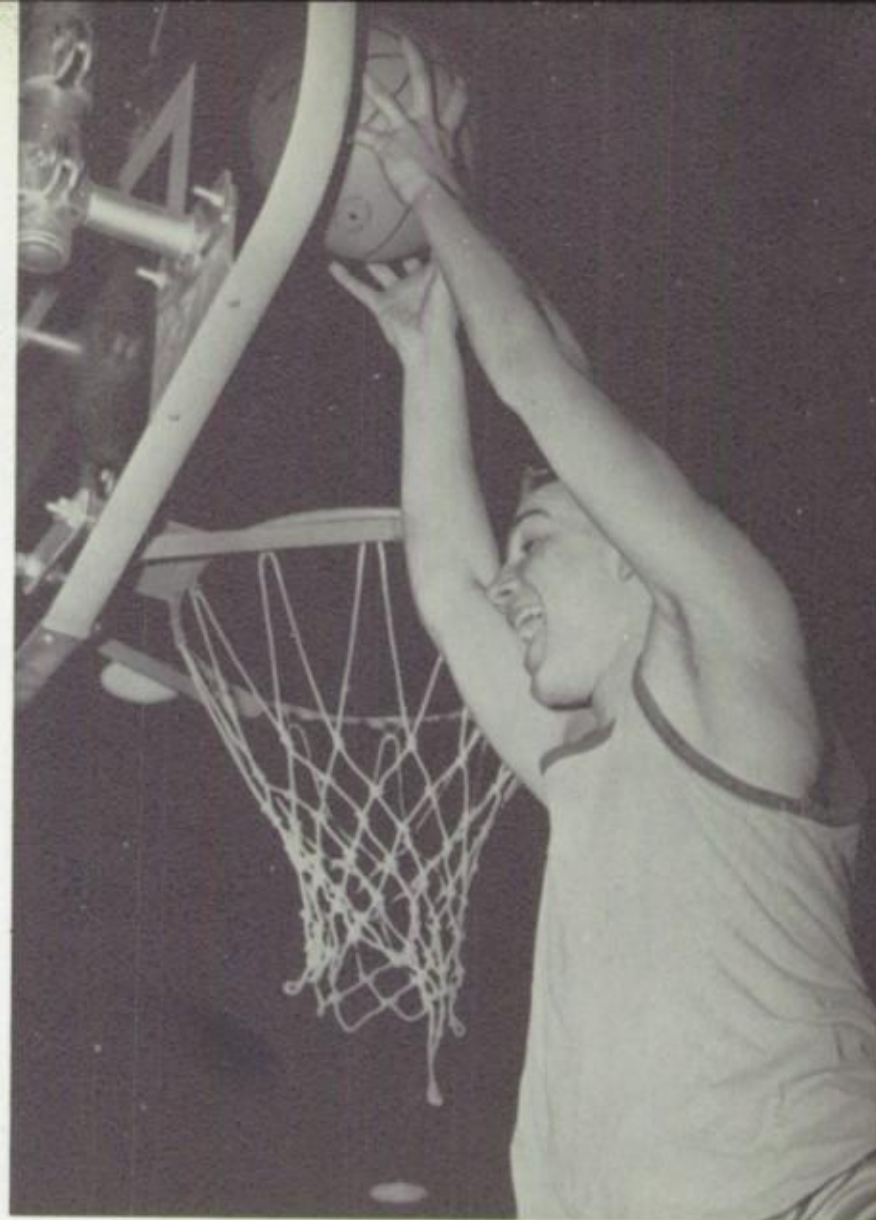

The Crest Staff pays tribute to Coach Richard Bechtel, a man whose spirit of teamwork and loyalty has been forever instilled in the hearts of those who attend St. John High. Mr. Bechtel, who passed away on January 1, 1962, has gone down in St. John's history as the coach who led the Blue Jays to the State Championship in '49.

Sports Arena

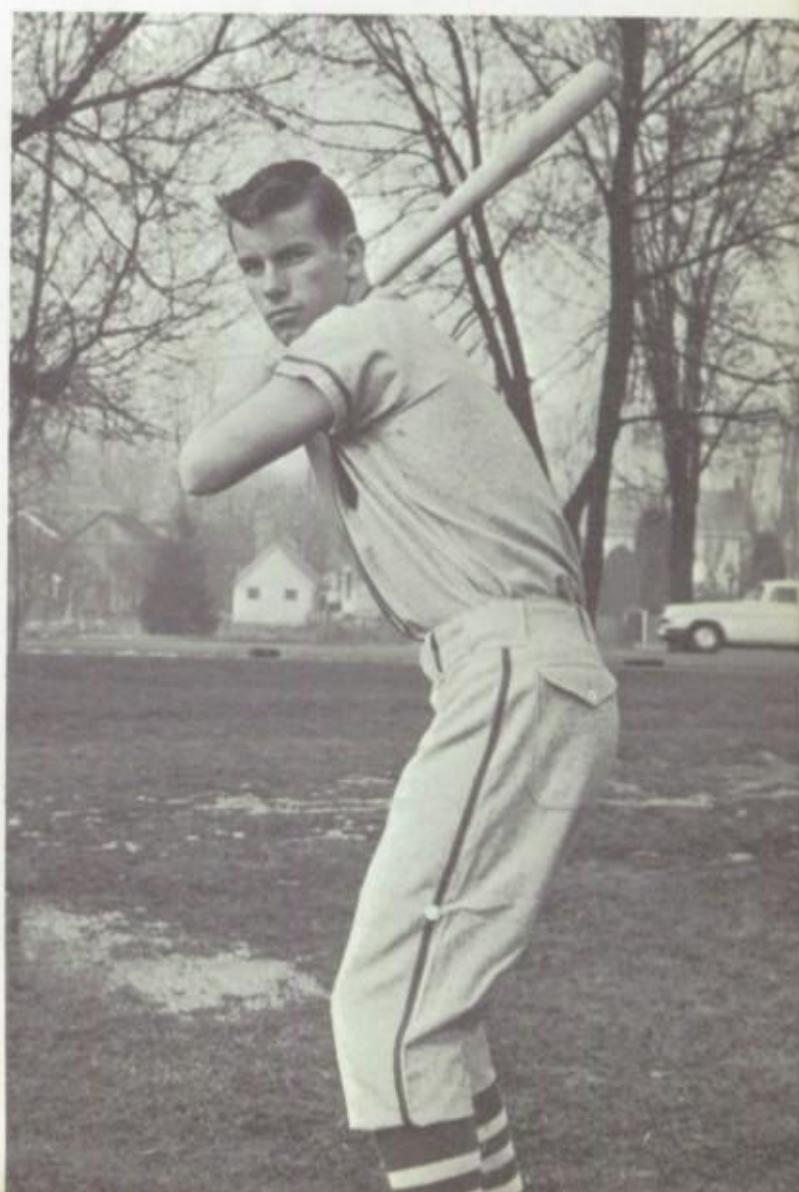

Oops there, Jim, don't bump your head on the rafters!

Arf! Arf! You've got the right tree, hounds, but the wrong coon. He went dat away! "Mush, you Malemites" Dave Leffers and Denny Kehres try a stuffed decoy. (Just how coonie can we get?)

There's a wicked gleam in the eye of yon batter-up. "Such men are dangerous!" Sock 'em, Jim!
